

Game Editing & Development Price

Editing: Per Word

$0.03 to $0.09 (Average is $0.05)

Development Consultation

$75.00 per hour

Editing is defined as the following:

- The combination of both Grammatical and Structural Editing to present the most complete manuscript possible.
 - Edits, instruction and counsel in the way of grammar and punctuation.
 - Edits, instruction and counsel in the composition of story. Items such as character development, pacing, plot construction fall into this category.
 - Edits and consultation as regard to mechanics and rules adjudication.

RATES ARE VARIABLE AND DEPENDENT UPON PROJECT BUDGET.

Development is defined as:

- Offering all manner of general critique and advice about general and elementary issues of game design including but not limited to issues of writing, themes, and elements of style, mechanics and story.
- Offering all manner of general critique and advice about general and broad issues of publication including and not limited to issues about the fund-raising process, distribution avenues, marketing and the publication of material for sale, as related to audience, price and trends.

EditingPrice

Grammatical Editing

$0.32/word or $8 a page

Structural Editing

$0.52/word or $13 a page

Developmental Editing

$0.10/word or $20 a page

Grammatical Editing is defined as

- Edits, instruction and counsel in the way of grammar and punctuation.
- Grammatical Editing examines only the grammar and punctuation.

Structural Editing is defined as

- Edits, instruction and counsel in the composition of story. Items such as character development, pacing, and plot construction fall into this category.
- Structural Editing assumes that the grammar is not an issue.

Developmental Editing is defined as

- The combination of both Grammatical and Structural Editing to present the most complete manuscript possible.
- It includes
 - Any and all instruction as to how a writer can improve his or her skills mechanically, technically, or developmentally.
 - Frequent and regularly scheduled meetings between the client and Jeremy to work with additional instruction and counsel.